The operation of the wind turbine at Elk Point's Visitor Information Eco Centre was suspended on Aug. 31 under an order from the Alberta Utilities Commission, in response to a noise complaint registered against the power generation unit.

Turbine operation suspended

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

The wind turbine at the Elk Point Visitor Information EcoCentre has been shut down, following the receipt of a suspension order on Aug. 31 from the Alberta Utilities Commission, and its operation must remain suspended until a comprehensive sound level survey determines that it meets permissible sound levels, or until a complaint registered against the turbine is withdrawn.

Although the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce owns the turbine, the order was sent to the Town of Elk Point, which signed the micro-generation application and the interconnection and operating agreement for the turbine.

The turbine was installed in April 2010 and along with a solar collector, provides much of the power for the EcoCentre, the TrailRiders snowmobile cabin and security lights at the Iron Horse Trail staging area. Since February 2011, the site's renewable energy generation system has been monitored by Lakeland College in Vermilion as part of a research program funded by the Natural Sciences and Engineering Council.

Bob Bezpalko, who serves as liaison between the college and the chamber, shut off and locked down the turbine on Aug. 31, two days after he attended an applied research day at the college where Elk Point was highlighted in the promotion and production of renewable energy.

Town receives MSI funding

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

The Town of Elk Point has been approved for more than $180,000 in Municipal Sustainability Initiative funding for 2013, town manager Myron Goyan told town council last Monday. "The money is in the bank, and it's up to you how you distribute it."

Mayor Parrish Tung said the money is to be distributed to non-profit groups and the town will advertise for applications from groups needing financial support for their projects and operations.

County rezoning

The town was advised of the proposed rezoning of an 80-acre parcel of agricultural land south and west of the Elk Point Recreation Park to Country Residential One, but council had no objections, as the site is outside their Municipal Development Plan area.

Highway speeds

Highway 646 isn't in Elk Point's jurisdiction either, but safety issues concerning town facilities and infrastructure had council agreeing to ask the Department of Highways to study the possibility of creating a speed zone between Highway 41 and west of the entrances to the Elk Point Recreation Park and Campground and the transfer station. That corner and the 54 Street corner both have limited visibility of oncoming highway traffic, adding to the potential for collisions. Council agreed that the amount of traffic on Highway 646 has increased considerably in recent years, and may require reduced speed zones, such as are in place on Highway 41 north and south of town.

Moving in

An application to move an older home into Elk Point made both council and administration realize that this is a topic not covered in Elk Point's land use bylaw, or one that was anticipated when the bylaw was created. Goyan felt that an amendment should be added, and council agreed, with Mayor Tung noting, "This is a policy we have to set" for use in the future.

District Deputy visits OORP

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

District Deputy Shirley Humble and Vegreville OORP Honoured Royal Lady Shirley Preuss visited the Elk Point Order of Royal Purple's meeting on Sept. 10.

The District Deputy, who has been an OORP member since 2007 and has more recently become involved with both the Supreme Lodge and provincial association, said her theme for the year is "Tolerance and forgiveness." She urged the members to "Reach out. It leads to more acceptance. Over time, people change, and forgiveness goes a long way. Address issues as they happen, rather than waiting until a later time.

"We're all working for the same purpose, as a fun-loving, dynamic, dedicated group of volunteers," she said

Tuesday's meeting celebrated the birthday of longtime member Lois Yaremkevich with a cake and "Happy Birthday, with Preuss adding a surprise harmonica accompaniment, and later in the meeting, Yaremkevich was presented with a special gift in recognition of her 19 years as the lodge's treasurer, a post she held until this spring, when Past Honoured Royal Lady Ruby Ann Kittlitz took over the role.

Elk Point OORP took part in Elk Point's Information Night the previous week, and along with a list of their community involvement and donations to worthy causes, displayed a sign that said, 'We need you,' looking for volunteers to help with upcoming bingos. Several young women signed up, and will be invited to an upcoming meeting to show them what the lodge is all about.

OORP members from across the district will be invited to Elk Point On Oct. 5 as Elk Point hosts the annual Traveling Gavel, with a Halloween theme, complete with costumes.

Longtime OORP member Lois Yaremkevich (right) was surprised with a birthday cake at the September meeting, and also received a gift honouring her 19 years as the lodge treasurer.

- September 21 is World Alzheimer's Day to raise awareness and challenge the stigma of Alzheimer's. There is currently no way of definitely preventing dementia. Some risk factors, like simply getting older and your genetic history, can't be changed. Even the healthiest people can get dementia and Alzheimer's. However, practicing a healthy life-style, keeping active physically, mentally and socially might delay the onset of dementia symptoms later in life. Our brains are a mass of cells and connections between those cells. Keeping your body healthy helps maintain good blood flow, oxygen and nutrients to the brain. Current drugs don't cure the disease but turn back the clock a bit.
- We all know that regular exercise is good for us but the National Institute of Health in the U.S. has actually quantified this benefit. NIH reported that even 10 minutes of walking per day can add two years to your life. Increase this to 2.5 hours per week of aerobic exercise can increase our lifespan by 3.4 years compared to those who do not exercise at all.
- In a few years, we will have a flu vaccine that won't have to be given each year. It will be a more universal vaccine that will be more effective against all strains of flu viruses. It should provide protection for five years.
- There is so much research going on in the world of medicine and pharmacy. Our professional pharmacists keep current on this research. It helps us be better pharmacists and serve you better.

Harvest time

Just a note of caution to motorists: in addition to the large volume of oilfield and pipeline traffic, school buses and gravel trucks, slow-moving farm machinery is now on the road as harvest gets underway.

Combines, swathers and tractors pulling balers and bale carriers aren't able to travel at the same speed as the rest of the traffic, and they also take up much more of the road. They move from field to field to farmyard at all hours of the day and night, so please watch out for them, and protect both yourself and our farmers.

Rubble, rendezvous and rail grade

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND THE ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF SEPT. 17 IN...

1988

Rubble in the hall, no heat in the office, gutted washrooms and makeshift classrooms on the stage were part of back-to-school adjustments for Elk Point Elementary School's students and staff, with a $830,000 modernization project to continue until spring. A new generation of golfers was receiving encouragement from one of Elk Point Golf and Country Club's most senior members, Ron Barwick, who presented a beautiful new Junior 12 and Under challenge trophy to its first recipient, Mark Woytkiw.

1993

A plaque honouring fort builder and fur trader William Tomison of the Hudson's Bay Company was unveiled at Fort George and Buckingham House Interpretive Centre during Fall Rendezvous 1993. Division 2 ratepayers met with County Coun. Ray Danyluk in the second of an ongoing series of information meetings aimed at keeping the ratepayers in touch with what was happening in the county council and school board.

1998

Elk Point Historical Society's Iron Horse Trail Committee was progressing toward making an all-season recreational trail available, with washouts repaired on the former CN railway grade and County Coun. Allan Young telling the committee that graders would be working on the east end to see what was under the deep gravel. Elk Point Community Advisory Policing Committee was back on track for fall with raising their profile in the community a top priority on the agenda at their first meeting of the new season.

2003

The North Saskatchewan Watershed Alliance held an open house for all ages, including groups of students who were fascinated by the creatures found in river water. Four out of five town councillors voted in favour of waiving the penalty on taxes paid Sept. 2, because Aug. 30 and 31 fell on the weekend, with Sept. 1 the Labour Day holiday, making payment prior to Sept. 1 difficult for those paid on the last day of the month.

2008

Elk Point's Grandparents' Day Walk raised a total of $4,753, with Peggy Maas again the top fundraiser, bringing in $1,205. There was a full house for Information Night, with a wide range of groups, organizations and agencies on hand to offer information on upcoming activities, programs and services.

GUEST COLUMN

Financial quicksand

Now that school registration is over with all the fees being paid, and students are back in school, families can now say they are experiencing "routine" once again. But upon review, family finances are once more being stretched. Sometimes, financial stretching is really the beginning of possible financial quicksand for some families.

It seems like in the recent talk shows on radio and television, concerns are being discussed around the "financial quicksand" possibilities. You may have first heard it with the University of Alberta being required to cut classes. It was said that even after this year's cut, they will be facing a seven per cent cut next year and a two per cent cut the following years. This picture is a "financial quicksand" for the university.

Then there is what is happening in Syria. By the time you read this paper, we will all know if the United States has chosen to use military force on Syria all because of the use of chemical warfare on their part. Again from listening to a talk show on radio, I learned that the economy in Syria is a huge problem. They are currently facing a 290 per cent inflation rate. What this means is that once a month, prices double. So of course, this leads to a lot of social unrest. And yes, the desperate means of fighting using chemical warfare was probably understandable. But it doesn't make it right, I agree.

Speaking of "it doesn't make it right", did you know that there are laws of war? The law of war is a legal term of art that refers to the aspect of public international law concerning acceptable justifications to engage in war and the limits to acceptable wartime conduct or International humanitarian law. The effort to define and govern the conduct of individuals, nations, and other groups in war dates from antiquity. All of this information that is mentioned on Google is very interesting, and now I understand why it is so complicated. But it is the Interpretation of international humanitarian law that I was currently interested in.

Interpretations of international humanitarian law change over time and this also affects the laws of war.

For example Carla Del Ponte, the chief prosecutor for the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia pointed out in 2001 that although there is no specific treaty ban on the use of depleted uranium projectiles, there is a developing scientific debate and concern expressed regarding the effect of the use of such projectiles and it is possible that, in future, there may be a consensus view in international legal circles that use of such projectiles violate general principles of the law applicable to use of weapons in armed conflict. This is because in the future it may be the consensus view that depleted uranium

deanna
from the FCSS desk

projectiles breaches one or more of the following treaties. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights; the Charter of the United Nations; the Genocide Convention; the United Nations Convention Against Torture; the Geneva Conventions including Protocol I; the Convention on Conventional Weapons of 1980; the Chemical Weapons Convention; and the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material.

From all this information, now I understand why it is very complicated to get involve in war and terrorist type of fighting takes place as a substitute. These people who are terrorists are bypassing all international humanitarian agreements. Hence the issue of the chemical usage in Syria is one example of a by-pass. So now the bottom line is: "How do we deal with terrorists?" And in this case, Syria's economy, their financial quicksand, is involved in the bottom line. This is a tough question. What are the remedies for violations? War wasn't declared – so do remedies for violators of international humanitarian laws exist when social unrest occurs? I don't have an answer to that question.

Meanwhile, while nations are experiencing financial quicksand, we need to check our own individual financial quicksand. Are we getting close to it or are some of us now in it? Are we using some kind of subsidy to cover up our debts? It is simply said; cut unnecessary wasteful expenses, and stay away from quicksand by getting out of debt. Or, will we will be saying – "If only!"

Last week to decide

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

It's the last week for town and rural residents to decide whether to throw their hats in the ring for the upcoming municipal and school board elections.

Town of Elk Point nominations for the position of mayor and for four council seats will be accepted Monday, Sept. 23, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the town office.

The County of St. Paul is accepting nominations at the county office in St. Paul that same day and time for one council seat in each of six electoral divisions and for the office of reeve, covering the county at large.

St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1 is seeking nominations for school trustees in six electoral subdivisions and the Glen Avon Ward, also to be accepted from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Sept. 23 at the school division's office in St. Paul.

Because nominations do not close until after press time, the list of candidates for all three elections will be carried in our Oct. 1 issue.

'Giving group' to form

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

A new charity group is emerging in Elk Point, and is inviting interested individuals to attend the first meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 9 at 10 a.m. at the Further Education building.

The organizers say their goal is "to bring together those who have things to give, those who have time and talents to give and those who are able to distribute items that are needed by others."

Things to give, they note, could include such items as pieces of fabric for quilts, yarn for toques, mitts and slippers, and other useful materials that could be used by willing hands to create items for those who need them.

They hope to meet about once a month to coordinate these "giving efforts" and enjoy the company of others.

Administration continues to work on modernizing the Off Highway Vehicles Bylaw.

Bylaw 2013-35 and Bylaw 2013-37 – Bylaw 2013-35 was approved to amend the County's Land Use Bylaw for the purposes of rezoning S ½ SW 35-56-7-W4 from Agricultural to Country Residential (1) as the applicant wishes to subdivide the property into acreages.

Bylaw 2013-37 received first reading to amend the County's Land Use Bylaw as it pertains to the rezoning of PNW 19-60-9-W4 from Agricultural to Country Residential (1).

Stark Road Construction – Council ratified a motion to increase road construction on Township Road 583, which is an additional 0.3 of a mile east of the project that was already approved.

Service on Three Digit Highways – The County will be providing input to the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties with regards to the condition and maintenance of three digit highways within the County of St. Paul. The input will shape AAMDC's advocacy efforts going forward with regards to highway maintenance contracts.

Paving in Ashmont – Council ratified a motion to pave 155 m along Railway Avenue in Ashmont, starting at the back alley of Main Street and going east to First Street E. The costs incurred from the project will be allocated to the Streets Improvement Grant for 2013.

November Council Meeting – Due to the regularly scheduled date conflicting with the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties Fall Convention, the November Council meeting has been rescheduled to November 19, at 10:00 am.

Dog Control – The County renewed its contract through to August 31, 2014 with Westcove Kennels to provide for the boarding of stray dogs within the County.

Lease for St. Lina Recreation Grounds – Council will be applying to renew the lease on SE 29-61-10-W4 with Alberta Environment and Sustainable Resource Development, which is set to expire on October 31, 2013. The property is being used by the St. Lina Agricultural Society.

Fire Halls – Work is progressing on the Ashmont and Mallaig Fire Halls. The outside work is completed and the contractor is working on the inside. Expectation is that the fire halls will be open by the end of 2013.

Office Space for Ambulance Staff – The County has elected to proceed with renovations to the lower level of the County Office for the purpose of developing offices and renting them to the St. Paul Ambulance Board.

2013 Municipal Election – The County has set its rates for workers in the upcoming election.

Instrumental Jazz 15, 25 and 35, Chamber Ensemble 12, 25 and 35, Band 15, 25 and 35 and a Class V Driver training course are now approved, and may be included within local curriculums in the near future.

"When the board approves them it means the schools can use them," said Secretary-Treasurer Jean Champagne. "Whether or not they actually do use them I couldn't say for sure and it doesn't necessarily mean that they will, it just means that they've been approved to be used."

Brodziak said it is important to broaden the range of locally offered courses to help ensure students are receiving the full education experience.

"Whether it's a locally developed course, or a standard course like a math, any time we can meet students interests or meet their needs, we want to explore those options," said Brodziak. "This is just another avenue that we can go on. While still giving kids the math, science, English and social, these are exploring other areas to look at the needs and explore what kids what. It's not just about the basics, it's about a total education."

Elections

The date to file nomination papers for the St. Paul Education Regional Division board of trustees is Sept 23.

"St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1 encourages individuals with an interest in education to consider running for trustee. It is an important work that makes a difference in the development of our children and in the lives of local residents – whether you have children in school or not," reads the SPERD website.

Information regarding the upcoming elections can be found on the SPERD website, at stpauleducation.ab.ca, or by calling the central office at (780) 645 3323.

Racette opening

Racette Junior High School held its grand opening on Sept. 4, and Premier Alison Redford was welcomed to the campus as an honoured guest.

"On behalf of the board we were honoured that Premier Redford was able to attend," said trustee Heather Starosielski.

Brodziak made a point of thanking Racette principal Susan Kotowich-Dubrule for her efforts in helping with the schools new construction, and the transition between locations.

"(The board) has made it known before, but I think again, we should thank Susan, the administration, plus their entire staff and the work they've done over the past two years," said Brodziak. "It's amazing."

Water break at EPE

A broken water line has been causing issues at Elk Point Elementary School, and it was recently determined that the site of the break is located on school property.

"There's a break in the water line that comes from the main to the school, and because it's on our property it ends up being our line so we're having to replace that line," said Champagne, adding that the fix will be swift and will not impede on activities at the school. "Last I heard (Wednesday) they were hoping to be able to do that... certainly by the end of the week. We've got an interim water supply hooked up so there's not any big disruption at the school."

Brodziak added that the broken water line has not done any extensive damage to the property, which will allow the issue to be resolved in a timely matter.

"It's just in the parking lot area," he said.

County traffic, incidents discussed with RCMP

By JANICE HUSER
Review Contributor

Cpl. James Morton of the St. Paul RCMP took time to update council regarding issues being seen in the county over the summer months.

"Our call volume has not really changed very much," said Morton as he briefed council on any changes since the last quarterly update. He added that the detachment is working on having officers do more patrols and be more visible.

A number of check stops were held over the long weekends in the summer, which helped increase officer visibility, heard council.

Many issues local RCMP deal with in the county relate back to unresolved neighbour disputes, many at lake communities. Another issue being seen lately is thefts from landfills.

This summer there were also some incidents at county campgrounds. Next year, Morton said he would like to set up a liaison with the campground managers to better deal with issues that arise.

Coun. Frank Sloan asked Morton if the RCMP has noticed any issues relating to the increase in traffic travelling through the area.

"There is a massive increase in traffic," said Morton, but he further explained that much of the traffic can be attributed to the pipeline workers in the area and the workers are encouraged by companies to abide by the laws and not draw negative attention to the camps.

Morton said there hasn't really been an increase in time being spent patrolling highways, but there has been an increase in dealing with certain issues in town. He added that despite some close calls on the highway near the old auction mart with traffic, no one has been complaining about the work camps in the area.

Morton said the RCMP is trying to make better use of its time in dealing with traffic related issues.

On the issue of ATVs, Coun. Maxine Fodness asked if Morton believed a bylaw would help solve some of the problems being experienced, especially in the Crestview area.

Morton explained that predominantly, the people fleeing from RCMP on ATVs and causing issues are the younger generation, adding, "they put themselves in a significant amount of danger. They put the community in a significant amount of danger."

He said that although a bylaw is a good idea, he believes that creating a community association for Crestview Beach would be a more effective idea. An association would encourage people to set their own boundaries and empower the landowners.

"We don't have the power to solve the problem," said Morton, adding, often the current issues create situations neighbours who don't get along with each other. Of course, there are always benefits to police and peace officer presence, but encouraging people to help themselves is also a good idea, said Morton.

Light Efficient Policy

Council approved a Light Efficient Community Policy at last week's regular council meeting. The policy will implement the use of LED technology for all new replacement streetlights and future street light installations.

The policy statements says, "council of the County of St. Paul No. 19 wishes to use lighting more responsibly and more cost effectively." The policy takes into account "environmental and financial advantages that can be achieved by increasing the presences of LED lighting technology in the county."

Public Hearing

A public hearing was held to hear any submissions for or against the rezoning of S 1/2 SW 35-56-7-W4 from AG to CR1, near Elk Point.

A number of co-owners of a piece of property nearby did voice concern over the rezoning since they plan on developing a gravel pit in the near future.

After hearing concerns, council looked into the matter and passed a resolution stating that at the time of development, a restrictive covenant be placed on the land being rezoned, identifying gravel pit operations in the area.

Stoney Lake road

County resident Josh Morrow approached council to discuss the possibility of using the Stoney Lake campground road as access to a parcel of land he plans to develop.

The access that exists now for the piece of land is in a dangerous place on Hwy 646, in an S-curve, he explained. Morrow showed council his plans to develop 11 residential lots on the piece of land.

Council discussed a few different options with Morrow, but decided it was best to ask Alberta Transportation about limitations on the road, as it is. The road itself isn't a registered road at the moment, heard council.

The possibility of the campground expanding combined with development in the area could create an issue because the intersection at the highway would have to be upgraded to accommodate the extra traffic.

"We need to get some information from Transportation," said Upham, adding, "We need to do some homework on this."

Unsightly conditions

The Unsightly Conditions Bylaw proposed by the County of St. Paul has been approved, after council voted unanimously on the bylaw.

Council carried all three motions of the bylaw, last week. The bylaw deals with management of unsightly properties in the county.

"Unsightly Conditions, for the purpose of this Bylaw, is any condition on or around a Property which in our opinion of the Bylaw Enforcement Officer, is untidy, unsightly, offensive, dangerous to health and safety of any person, or has or may have a detrimental effect upon any person or other surrounding lands, or which interferes with the use and enjoyment of other adjacent property, the neighbourhood, or which interferes with the use and enjoyment of another adjacent property," says the bylaw.

Vermilion Beach

Council denied a request from the Vermilion Beach Association to support its objection to a proposed CNRL project in what was described as a nature preserve. Council agreed that it was not within its jurisdiction and did not see it as a good idea to get involved in the issue.

Westcove Kennels

Council agreed to renew its one-year contract with Westcove Kennels. The local business requested an increase from $225 to $300 per month for a retainer fee to board stray dogs for the county.

President

Sheila Kitz, CAO with the County of St. Paul, has been named the first ever female president of Alberta Rural Municipal Administrators' Association. The organization has been around for 91 years.

NLLS hosting annual library conference

By VICKI BROOKER

'Growing Stronger Together' is the theme for this week's annual conference of the Northern Lights Library System, as library board members and staff from libraries across the region gather for three days of information sharing.

The conference features two keynote speakers, author, columnist and playwright Fran Kimmel of Lacombe and New York Times best-selling author Kelley Armstrong of southern Ontario, who will address the group Thursday and Friday evenings, respectively.

Three area authors are also included in the program. Jennifer Flanders Van der Hoek, author of 'The Phantom of Lone Pine Lake,' Diane Ziomek, author of 'The Hidden Estate,' and Eileen Schuh, with four books to her credit, will be part of the Self-published Author Panel on Friday morning.

Other sessions cover topics ranging from grant application writing to cyber bullying and programming to book repair, along with opportunities to learn more about photography or extreme couponing and to take a tour of Fort George and Buckingham House Provincial Historic Site.

Suicide Awareness Walk opens minds, hearts

By SAM MACDONALD
Review Contributor

People in Frog Lake took a stand against suicide on Sept. 11, at the second annual Suicide Awareness Walk and balloon release.

Two hundred people including students, school staff, community members, coordinators, and elders walked down a section of Hwy 867 running through the Frog Lake First Nation, starting at the wellness centre, and going to the career centre near Chief Napewew Comprehensive School. The walkers were accompanied by RCMP, and security, and formed a long line along the route.

The walk and balloon release are part of a series of events meant to raise awareness of and combat suicide, held in September. Suicide intervention training, and a traditional healing and Cree cultural camp for community youth also take place.

After the walk was complete, participants met in the gym at the career centre, for a series of speeches to raise awareness and speak out against the high rate of suicides that are found among aboriginal youth.

"Suicide is a disease, and we're trying to break the cycle," said Shawn Waskahat, the emcee for the speeches.

"We can't face this alone. Look to the past, to the future, look to others."

Many of the speeches were done in an open mic format, allowing for people to informally stand before the assembled audience and share stories of how suicide has affected their lives, and the lives of those they care about. Many of these speeches were filled with emotion.

"We have the highest rate of suicide in the world, and our youth are suffering," said Corey Wells, executive director and co-founder of the Red Willow Training Society. "Elders are a part of your healing. Talk to them. They have experience and can help you through tough times," she said, addressing the youth in the audience.

She added, "We have to keep an eye out and look out for each other. Just remember you ancestors. They were too busy achieving, and had no time for suicide."

Sarah Singer, also a consultant with Red Willow, explained that the Red Willow Training Society works with communities to understand and help others understand what people are going through.

"We have these walks to know that there is a significant problem with suicide here in Frog Lake," she said to the crowd. "We have statistics that show how many people are thinking about suicide, and we can stop it in our community. It's 100 per cent preventable. We just have to come forward to each other, open up, and listen."

After the speeches, participants and guests were treated to a lunch and the event finished with the balloon release and ceremonial dance.

The balloons symbolized personal freedom, and offered a way for people coping with losses from suicide to send their thoughts to those they care about, who have passed on.

Some of the yellow helium balloons had notes attached to them, with personal thoughts.

"It was a powerful moving day," said Donny Singer, a guidance counselor from the school, event coordinator, and member of the Community Crisis Response Team. "The communities from Frog Lake, Heinsburg and Lindbergh have come together for the event."

He added, "This is part of a youth initiative to help youth who are at risk, and is a response to the recent suicide that happened in July. We need to make the community aware, and one (suicide) is too many."
